

CHILD PROTECTION POLICY

Rationale

All children and young people have the right to be cared for and protected from harm and abuse. They deserve to grow up in a safe environment in which their rights are respected and their needs met. Children and young people should get the help they need when they need it.

The Scottish Government has set out a vision that all Scotland's children and young people will be successful learners, confident individuals, effective contributors, and responsible citizens. This depends very much on how well they have been supported to develop their well-being. All staff in contact with children and young people must play their part in making sure that children and young people are safe, healthy, achieving, nurtured, active, respected, responsible, and included.

All staff have a responsibility for the care and welfare of pupils along with the promotion of their personal safety. They have a key role in creating physically and emotionally safe environments and in recognising and monitoring situations when children have been or are at risk of being harmed. Staff who are in day-to-day contact with children have a significant role in protecting children. As such, these guidelines identify what to do if you observe outward signs of a child who is at risk of harm or who has been harmed.

This guidance will help providers and staff to take into account the relevant Health and Social Care Standards:

- 1.29 I am supported to be emotionally resilient, have a strong sense of my own identity and wellbeing, and address any experiences of trauma or neglect.
- 2.3 I am supported to understand and uphold my rights.
- 3.15 My needs are met by the right number of people.
- 3.20 I am protected from harm, neglect, abuse, bullying and exploitation by people who have a clear understanding of their responsibilities.
- 3.21 I am protected from harm because people are alert and respond to signs of significant deterioration in my health and wellbeing that I may be unhappy or may be at risk of harm.
- 3.22 I am listened to and taken seriously if I have a concern about the protection and safety of myself or others, with appropriate assessments and referrals made.
- 3.24 If I might harm myself or others, I know that people have a duty to protect me and others, which may involve contacting relevant agencies.
- 4.18 I benefit from different organisations working together and sharing information about me promptly where appropriate, and I understand how my privacy and confidentiality are respected.

This guidance will help providers and staff to take into account the relevant Quality Indicators from How Good is our Early Learning and Childcare: How Good Is Our Early Learning and Childcare

- 2.1 Safeguarding and child protection
- 2.4 Personalised support
- 2.5 Family learning
